Heavy ballot draws very light voter turnout

It seemed in yesterday's (Nov. 7) election the voters turned out in inverse proportion to the number of initiatives and bond issues on the ballot. The result was an extremely light voter turnout, which meant that the various issues, including proposals for an additional $140 million in indebtedness, were decided by very small numbers of people tipping the scales one way or the other.

The Secretary of State's office had predicted 34 percent of registered voters would go to the polls. In the Bethel area, where voting usually exceeds state averages, few towns reached the predicted level. Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Upton, West Paris and Woodstock recorded voter percentages in the 20s. Albany, Gilead, Hanover and Newry made it into the 30s. Mason Township had the highest percentage of participation locally, with a 68 percent turnout.

Area voters generally thought along the same lines as their neighbors statewide, voting against public financing of elections, for sending nuclear waste to Nevada and against mortgage underwriting. Local and statewide voting was also similar on most bond issues. However local voters were against the sewer bond and against stopping cruise missile tests, contradicting state sentiment.

In general, local voters did not show really strong sentiment for or against any issue.

Rebels take western Maine title—lose state crown in a squeaker

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Telstar High School's shot at a second state athletic title in less than a year came up just a little short Saturday. In the State Class C Field Hockey Championship game, the Rebels held defending champion Winthrop scoreless until three minutes into sudden-death overtime.

The Rebels, who had been on the defensive early in the contest, were also scoreless, but they had built up offensive momentum during the second period and appeared ready to break through Winthrop's stingy defense.

Cheered on by scores of fans who had made the journey to Hall Dale High School, in Hallowell, the Rebels went in to overtime feeling the game—and the state championship—was within reach. But before they could capitalize, Winthrop's Struck twins, Ethel and Anna, combined on a breakaway tally that abruptly ended the Rebels' campaign.

Winthrop and Telstar played twice, during the regular season and each came away with one win and one loss. Saturday's game could also have gone either way—both teams had earlier chances to score, but neither could convert.

"We had our chances," said co-coach Gail Wright. "We played well enough to win, but it just didn't happen."

The Rebels earned their title shot by defeating Yarmouth, 3-2, earlier in the week. Yarmouth, unbeaten all year, was seeded number one in Western Maine Class C and boasted an intimidating defense that had allowed opponents only six goals all year.

When the Rebels fell behind by two goals early in the game, it looked as if they might be in for a long afternoon. But for the scrappy Rebels the afternoon was just long enough—they fought back to a

Middle school math team shines in regional meet

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Telstar Middle School hosted the annual Sandy Andy Math Meet last week, and the home team did itself proud.

Telstar took second place in overall team competition among the 12 schools in the meet. And in the individual competition, Telstar's Lydia Grover took first place among all 6th-graders and Kendra Hutchinson and Nancy Morgan were first and second respectively among the 7th-graders.

"I'm extremely pleased, not only with how well these kids did, but with all the work they put in to get ready for the meet," Middle School Principal Bruce

Bank seeks to foreclose on Locke Mills homes of convicted murderers

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Casco Northern Bank has been granted summary judgments for foreclosure on Locke Mills properties owned (separately) by convicted murderers Gary Rainey and Alfred Saunders.

Justice Robert L. Browne granted the foreclosures in Oxford County Superior Court yesterday (Tuesday). They will become effective in 90 days.

Mr. Rainey and Mr. Saunders, who are incarcerated at the Maine State Prison in Thomaston, have failed to make payments on loans secured by the properties in question, according to papers filed by the bank.

Mr. Saunders was present in Superior Court on Tuesday but spoke only briefly, saying he was unable to respond because the legal counsel he expected had not shown up. Neither Mr. Rainey nor an attorney representing him was present on Tuesday.

Mr. Saunders was convicted last year of murdering his wife Joan in 1981. He contends that she committed suicide, but acknowledges he buried her body under the basement of their home on Bird Hill Road in Bethel. The body remained there

Bethel gets grant of $162,500 for sewer repair job; seeks more fed aid

The Town of Bethel last Friday received word from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) that the Town had been awarded a grant of $162,500 to help defray the cost of sewer plant repairs. Town officials applied for the grant following last month's special town meeting, at which voters authorized the borrowing of an additional $300,000 to pay for the repairs. Voters had earlier approved borrowing $400,000. The total cost of the sewer plant repair is estimated at $860,000.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch said the grant will be used to reduce the amount to be borrowed in the second authorization. Thus, instead of borrowing the entire $300,000, the Town will borrow $217,500 from the authorized loan and make up the difference with the grant.

Mr. Lynch said the size of the grant is based upon the debt service incurred by the sewer ratepayers. The ratepayers, in addition to being in debt for the earlier authorization of $400,000, are still paying off the remaining $199,000 on the original loan that helped build the plant.

Last month, voters decided that the $300,000 loan should be paid from taxation. Thus, the grant will significantly reduce the tax burden, although it will not affect the burden already on the ratepayers.

At Monday night's Board of Selectmen meeting, Board Chairman Arlan Jodrey praised Mr. Lynch for working to get the grant for the town.

Mr. Lynch told the board he wants to try to get additional federal money for the sewer system. Work not yet funded includes over $1 million worth of sewer line repair, plus more than a half-million dollars additional work to be done at the plant.

The money Mr. Lynch is eyeing is the federal government's Community Development Block Grant program.

Each year, the program gives $10 million to the State of Maine, which selects the municipalities that will receive the grants.

Sunday River opens for season

Sunday River Ski Resort opened its slopes for the 1989-90 season Sunday.

About 250 skiers were reported to have taken advantage of the fall skiing. Following two weeks of Indian Summer, last week turned cold and the skiway got its snow guns working—some 100 of them. Mother Nature then stepped in to help, dropping a half-foot of snow on local mountain-tops last Friday night.

By Sunday, the conditions on at least two slopes—Right Stuff and Lower Sunday Punch—were declared to be "fantastic," and the skiing began.

The Nov. 5 opening was the earliest for any Maine or New Hampshire ski area. For Sunday River it was its second earliest in history. The earliest came eight or nine years ago, when skiing began on Hallowell.

Skiers taking advantage of the Sunday River slopes this season will find more snowmaking, more lift capacity, and four new trails—all part of the off-season's $3 million expansion program, which also includes new dorms and condominiums.

The grants are supposed to be used to develop or revitalize certain portions of any given municipality. The aim is to provide jobs or better living conditions for low and moderate income residents. Since the income level for low to

Draft report on saving northeastern forests draws praise, criticism

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A recently released U.S. Forest Service report on strategies for preserving the forests of northern New England and New York is getting mixed reviews from conservation and business groups. Area residents will get a chance to express their own views at a public hearing Nov. 15.

The report was commissioned by Congress in 1988, largely in response to the sell-off of nearly 1 million acres of Diamond International land holdings in New Hampshire and New York.

The U.S. Forest Service and the Governors' Task Force on Northern Forest Lands (made up of representatives from New York and the three northern New England states) conducted a 14-month study, the draft results of which were released last month.

(A series of public meetings on the draft have been scheduled. The meeting nearest to the Bethel area will be in South Paris, at the Oxford Hills Junior High School, on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m.) The study looked at the pressures that are changing the face of the northern woodlands, and recommended a number of strategies to—in the words of the congressional authorization—"allow a precious part of our world to go on as it is."

Hunters finding deer

With the colder, crisper weather, plus some snow, hunters did well in the woods this past week. The totals at local tagging stations as of yesterday (Tuesday) were as follows:

- Bear River Cabins, Newry—16 deer, five bear.
- Brown's Mobil, Bethel—24 deer, 22 bear. There are 44 hunters in the buck pool, but so far only one buck has been weighed, 177 pounds, with eight points.
- Bob's Corner Store, Locke Mills—16 deer, the largest of which was a 10-point buck.
- Trap Corner Store, West Paris—21 bucks, five doe, and three female fawns. Also four male and four female bears.
- Kevin Roberts, of West Paris, so far has the largest doe, weighing 162 pounds.
- Mills Market, Andover—26 deer, 22 bear.

Opinions

A note from the publisher

Judging from a recent spurt of interest in the local area by out-of-town newspapers you'd think the Bethel area was filled with businesses awash in money, ready to spend advertising dollars with anyone making outlandish claims.

And some of the claims are pretty outlandish.

For example, the Rumford paper, which opened an office in Bethel last week, tells potential advertisers it has a circulation of 6,200. In fact, it only prints 5,500 papers, according to its annual statement of ownership. And it sells fewer than that.

The Rumford paper, as well as the Berlin, Norway, North Conway, Skowhegan and Windham papers, are part of the James Group of newspapers—the largest group of weekly newspapers in the state.

Consider the facts: the Rumford paper sells between 35 and 50 papers a week in Bethel; the Norway paper sells between 75 and 100 papers a week in Bethel. For comparison, The Citizen sells 1,166 papers a week in Bethel, plus the thousands we sell in the rest of our circulation area. While The Citizen makes no attempt to cover news in northern or southern Oxford County, we nevertheless sell an average of 89 papers a week in Rumford and 85 papers a week in Norway/South Paris.

The Citizen each week is sold to over 3,100 families. Our press run is over 3,500, with most of the extra papers being distributed as promotional copies.

Another outsider soon to appear on the local newspaper scene is a paper originating in Bangor. With assistance from Sunday River Ski Resort, this paper is expected to carry recreation and entertainment news and will be aimed at the winter tourist.

The paper, I understand, promises a circulation of 3,500 copies a week. However, since it will be a freebie, there will be no way for advertisers to verify how many copies are actually picked up.

Advertisers will have to make thoughtful decisions this winter when it comes to deciding how to use their precious advertising dollars. For the most complete circulation in the SAD #44 area (plus West Paris), The Citizen will remain the best buy—and at the lowest cost of any paper in the state.

For advertisers needing broader circulation, a combination of The Citizen and the Lewiston Sun-Journal will cover the entire county with more readers than any other possible combination of papers.

If you're an advertiser and would like to know the real score when it comes to circulation figures—and cost of ads—give me a call, at 824-2444. It stands to reason that if someone offers you a deal that sounds too good to be true, it's probably too good to be true. So call me first for the facts.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

It has been four months since general use of the Bethel Landfill was discontinued for Newry residents. During this period a door-to-door trash pickup service has been established for Newry in conjunction with a solid waste disposal program utilizing the facilities of the Norway-Paris transfer station.

This has been a very expensive transition period involving various capital expenditures for collection containers, household trash pickup and waste transporting charges, plus associated incinerator and landfill disposal fees. Included also is the fee for a one-year extension in the use of the Bethel Landfill for disposal of certain materials other than household waste.

A review of all costs associated with waste disposal during this period indicates that, based on the actual quantity of waste involved, the overall disposal cost has reached the astronomical level of $180 per ton. Such a cost demands immediate attention and an extraordinary effort to reduce it substantially.

Under the best of circumstances waste disposal costs are and will remain high, so the only way to reduce them is to reduce the amount of actual waste. This means that all residents must make a conscious effort to minimize the amount of waste set aside for disposal and increase their participation in recycling. Only through such a concerted plan will disposal costs be reduced. Generate less waste, recycle whatever and wherever possible. Reduce the waste and thus reduce the cost of disposal.

As part of the solid waste program and to achieve the benefits of recycling, Newry has rented a multi-compartment container and installed it at the town office location. A recycling program has started with the collection of newspapers, clear and colored glass and various plastic materials. All residents are urged to separate these recyclables from their household trash and deposit them in the appropriate compartment. Details on materials to be recycled and their preparation are available at the town office.

Reduction of the high town waste disposal costs can only be achieved through a determination by all residents to reduce the wastes generated and to recycle whenever possible. All residents are urged to give this matter their utmost attention because the money to be saved is their own.

Sigmund Sysko, Chairman
Newry Solid Waste Committee

Anti-poaching hotline bagging big game thieves

The Operation Game Thief anti-poaching hotline is working, and it may even exceed the expectations of its sponsors.

Game Warden Sgt. William Allen, who serves as the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife's liaison with the privately sponsored Operation Game Thief, reports that calls on the toll-free hotline had resulted in apprehension of 31 violators as of mid-October, the majority of violations involving big game animals.

Sgt. Allen said 15 violations were for illegal possession of deer; seven for illegal possession of moose; one for killing deer in closed season; three for killing moose in closed season; and two for illegal possession of bear.

Several of the callers whose tips have led to arrests have already received payments ranging up to $500. Several others are still pending payment. Some callers declined the reward money, apparently satisfied at the opportunity to report the violations.

Persons wishing to report fish and wildlife law violations may use the hotline by calling 1-800-ALERT US. The callers may remain anonymous.

Calls resulting in arrests are eligible to receive cash rewards ranging from $50 to $1,000.

Operation Game Thief, announced by Governor John McKernan at a press conference in June, is administered by an incorporated private citizens' group. The

Pancake breakfast set for Sunday, Nov. 19

On Sunday, Nov. 19, the Bethel Rotary invites the Bethel area community to the Gould Academy dining room for the annual Rotary Pancake Breakfast.

For $4 per adult (over 12) and $2 per child (under 12), the menu is pancakes or scrambled eggs with several side dishes, including sausage, hash browns, toast, muffins, orange juice, fresh fruit, coffee, tea, or milk.

Chairs for the occasion is Jeffrey Parsons, and he will be assisted by a staff of foreign and domestic chefs, including Romeo Baker, Roger Conant, and Jim Monahan.

Serving time is 8-11 a.m., and the price includes the opportunity to visit with your neighbors, read your favorite Sunday paper, and assist the Bethel Rotary Club to fund worthwhile projects. Tickets may be purchased in advance from any Rotarian, or at the door.

A non-profit organization has a 15-member board of directors, who meet to decide the amount of the rewards. A reward fund presently totaling about $20,000 has been established through donations by private individuals, sporting clubs and businesses in the state.

The Operation Game Thief phone line is answered by the Maine Warden Service during normal working hours. At night, conservation law enforcement students from Unity College take calls and pass the information to the Warden Service.

until 1987, when state police investigators, acting on a tip, dug through the concrete floor and found the decomposed remains.

The property on which the bank seeks to foreclose is located in nearby Locke Mills, on the north side of Rte. 26, and includes a fire-damaged building where Mr. Saunders formerly conducted his masonry business.

Coincidentally, the two parcels of Rainey property sought by the bank are also located nearby, on Bird Hill Road in Locke Mills. (Bird Hill Road runs through both Locke Mills and Bethel.)

The property includes the house where Mr. Rainey shot and seriously wounded his son in law, Barry Coolidge, in October 1984.

After shooting Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Rainey drove to Bethel, where he shot and beat to death his stepdaughter, Kimberly Shriver, and her boyfriend Christopher Greska.

A real estate dispute concerning the house on Bird Hill Road was said to have triggered the shootings.

Mr. Rainey was convicted last month on two counts of murder and one of aggravated assault in connection with the crimes. He is awaiting sentencing.

Bethel/Newry boundary dispute in judge's hands

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The long-standing boundary dispute between the towns of Bethel and Newry is in court once again.

Lawyers for the two towns presented petitions in Oxford County Superior Court yesterday (Tuesday). Newry asked that the court accept the majority report of a commission formed to resolve the dispute; Bethel asked the court to set aside the majority report and accept the minority report.

The majority report, issued in November 1987, found in Newry's favor, but the three-member commission was split on the matter.

The dispute involves the town line between Newry Corner and Gilead Corner. A 1985 survey commissioned by Bethel set the boundary as a straight line between the two points, which was how it was originally established by the Maine Legislature nearly 200 years ago.

And a "straight line," Bethel argues, means a straight line.

Selectmen

moderate income families is $22,700 for a family of four, the selectmen felt confident that a project proposal in Bethel would fit within the guidelines. In fact, only 51 percent of the residents benefiting from the project have to be low to moderate income families.

Al Smith, of the state office of Rural Housing Improvement, told the selectmen there were 68 applications for CDBG funds last year; 20 were approved for funding. He said most of the grants were in the $400,000 range.

The selectmen were of the opinion that a proposal for repairing leaking sewer lines or dealing with the flooding of Sanding Brook in town might be looked on favorably, especially in view of the proposed low-income development on Mason Street.

The Town has only until Dec. 1 to submit an application for the CDBG funds and the selectmen plan to meet later this week or next week to work on the application.

Notes from the

Woodstock Historical Society

Following is a comment on antiques—

"The best way to learn about antiques, to study antiques themselves... Observe fine points of style, decoration, material, and construction... visit museums, shops, and the homes of your friends who have antiques."

Don't forget to bring something for a silent auction at our November meeting. Earle Noyes has been working hard on further renovations at the museum building.

Also, remember that this November is the actual birthday of the Woodstock Historical Society.

Newry, however, contends that over time the line evolved into a more zig-zag demarcation, and that these historical meanderings should be incorporated into the legal line.

Newry Selectman Steve Wight said that over the years several surveys were done incorporating the various offsets, adjustments, magnetic anomalies and false courses that led to the jagged line.

The difference between the lines posited by the two towns is as much as 90 feet at some points.

Superior Court Justice Robert L. Bowne has taken the arguments under advisement and is expected to rule on the matter within the week.

Andover

Church.

The parking lot has attracted druggies despite a sign stating that no parking is allowed on church property except for church and Town Hall events.

The selectmen also noted that the lock on the church door had been forced over the weekend.

Selectmen Chairman Jane Rich said, "There is heavy-duty drug dealing and using going on, and there has even been freebasing right in the parking lot. We have had many complaints from residents, and the selectmen all feel that Bush's war on drugs will be extended to Andover. The people in Andover know it's 'we can do it in Andover because no one is watching.' The townspeople don't want drugs here and we won't tolerate it."

Sheriff Emerson said most of the activity here comes from New Hampshire or Lewiston. He was supplied with available information and promised to take necessary steps in the matter.

Allan Waterhouse, president of the Bethel Lions Club, presented Selectwoman Rich with a check for $200 for the Andover cemetery restoration in honor of Princess Mollycockett—who is buried in the cemetery. Howard Donahue (who also represented the Lions, along with Ed Friel), told the Board, "Twenty years ago the town of Bethel picked up on Mollycockett for Mollycockett Day, and we feel she embodies the qualities the Lions Club stands for, being unselfish and helping other people. Since Andover is her final resting place, it is only fitting we give the town this donation. Most people don't realize that the Bethel Lions Club serves the whole SAD #44 area. I wish people in surrounding towns were more aware of that fact."

The selectmen discussed the possibility of using the money for a historical marker for Mollycockett's grave.

The selectmen have decided not to contract out for mowplowing of driveways this year, but instead will use the employee to be hired for the road department (beginning Dec. 4) for this purpose. They also stressed that the town policy is that roads would be plowed first, and the driveways plowed afterwards. Selectman Fred Emerson stated his disapproval of plowing driveways at all, but was outvoted by Selectmen Rich and Maswell.

The town will include as part of next year's budget an amount to update the electrical service at the Town Hall due to short circuit problems that arose the night of the Ellis River Riders' Halloween dance. The faulty emergency lighting will also be taken care of immediately.

David Hawkes, builder and designer, is meeting with part of the board to survey the Town Hall, review possibilities of structural changes, and come up with the cost of a preliminary plan to be reviewed by the whole board, and at a later date be presented to Town Meeting. The selectmen hope to be able to move to the Town Hall in the future if townspeople approve the change, due to the lack of space in the town office.

John B. Fox, Jr. complained that boundary markers between his land and the Canterbury property had been removed during road work on South Arm Road. Steve Swasey has agreed to pay for putting them back, and surveyor Bulky Burnham will be contacted for their proper locations.

In regard to Fire Chief Ken Dixon's concern at the last meeting about persons in authority in a town being legally liable for placing someone under them in an unsafe situation resulting in death, the selectmen have determined this does not apply to police or fire departments.

The selectmen, together with Road Commissioner Wilbur Chenery, next week will interview four of the seven applicants for the highway department opening. The selectmen also discussed the methods and costs of providing health insurance for town employees, as well as salaries of the highway department crew.

The town's bid of winter maintenance of county roads will be $1,800 per mile, as compared to $1,600 last year.

Video store wants to move

The Bethel Planning Board will consider an application from Eric and Karen Wight to move their Telstar Video from its current location on Rte. 2 to the former Fox Barber Shop, closer to town on Rte. 2.

The board will also consider a request from Mike Witter to add a second mobile home on his property on the Old Grover Road.

The meeting will be tonight (Wednesday) starting at 7 p.m., in the town office.

tion, a national organization of which he is president, he complained that the report "does not identify public misconceptions of the forest as a greater threat than development... does not call for public education about how the forests work and what is good for them... says that national forest management in the northeast works."

"We feel the current trend of increased political and legal constraints make their management difficult and less preferable to private management. [The report] does not point out that one of the reasons for increased development is the current tax structure for the wealthy."

Mr. Favreau also complains of the use of the term "biological diversity"—a term he says has been popularized by forest preservation groups as a reason not to manage land.

Finally, he said, the report "favors a tax break for land sold to conservation associations, which we do not support. While some of the groups are good, others have a mystical and unrealistic view of the forests that is contrary to scientific evidence."

Leon Favreau, president of Bethel Furniture Stock, termed the report "a most realistic picture on contemporary forest issues." For example, he said, "The recurring land owners to hold onto their land and keep it in its current use, rather than selling it off for other—usually more profitable—uses."

But the report's focus on tax manipulation has drawn sharp criticism from some conservationists.

Objecting to the "narrow range of proposed solutions," George Frampton, president of the Wilderness Society, said: "The challenges confronting these forest lands are complicated and call for a variety of tools. Yet the toolbox put together by the Forest Service is filled mostly with tax tools: reductions in capital gains rates, larger property tax rebates, and reduced estate taxes. While certain tax incentives for the paper and timber management companies may make sense, the Forest Service has gone way overboard."

However, not all conservation groups take this view.

Jerry Bley, a resource specialist with the Natural Resources Council of Maine, referred to the report as "a great springboard for action. It doesn't offer specifics," he said, "but it lays out options for the public to choose from."

Mr. Bley said the council strongly supports one of the few specifics the report does suggest—creating an emergency acquisition fund to be used when a parcel of valuable forest land faces an immediate threat of development.

He pointed to Georgia-Pacific Corporation's recently proposed takeover plans for Great Northern Nekosia Corp. Following such takeovers, the assets of the swallowed-up company are frequently sold off to finance the costs of the takeover or to maximize profits from the deal—as was the case after British rider James Goldsmith took over Diamond International Corp. several years ago.

The report's suggestions, if enacted into legislation and practice, would no doubt have an impact on the economic future of western Maine, which is heavily dependent on its forests.

Leon Favreau, president of Bethel Furniture Stock, termed the report "a most realistic picture on contemporary forest issues." For example, he said, "The recurring land owners to hold onto their land and keep it in its current use, rather than selling it off for other—usually more profitable—uses."

However, he, too, took issue with aspects of the report. Speaking for himself and for the Multiple Use Association,

Telstar girl injures classmate at school; flees with older male

A Telstar student, who school officials said was acting "erratically," backed a car into another student Monday morning, injuring that student's legs.

Cindy Fildes, the injured student, was taken by Bethel ambulance to Stephens Memorial Hospital. Authorities said her legs were badly bruised but there did not seem to be any broken bones.

The incident began when a 15-year-old sophomore girl came late to school, accompanied by a man, who authorities said was not a student. The sophomore, whom authorities did not identify, and her male companion entered the building just as classes were letting out from third period. When some classmates noticed her in the hallway and questioned her behavior, she produced a statement prepared by the superintendent of schools for the school board.

Following that confrontation, the girl ran out into the parking lot and jumped in the car in which the man had driven her to school, leaving the man still in the building. While a number of students tried to talk with her from outside the car, trying to convince her to re-enter the school, the girl started the car, got it into reverse (possibly by mistake), and backed into her classmate, pinning her against another car.

Some of the male students managed to lift the car away from the injured Fildes girl and call school authorities, who called the ambulances and the police.

Soon thereafter, the male companion of the sophomore girl came out of school, got into the car, and the two drove off. Bethel Police Chief Brian Stowell said the man, from Carthage, turned himself in at the Rumford Police Station Monday afternoon when he became aware there was an all-points bulletin out on him and the high school girl.

According to Chief Stowell, the man "claimed he dropped off the girl at the Abbott Farm Plaza, in Rumford, because she said she was going to go to a friend's house. The chief said the man denied the existence of a gun in the girl's possession. The man was not charged and his name was not released."

Chief Stowell said he will consider filing charges against the female juvenile when she is caught. Among the charges being considered are terrorizing with a firearm and reckless conduct with a dangerous weapon—in this case, the automobile.

Aside from any criminal charges that may be brought against her, Telstar Principal Ted Davis said the girl violated a school policy that prohibits bringing firearms or other weapons onto school property. He said violation of this policy could result in the girl's expulsion from school. The decision would be up to the school board.

JACKSON-SILVER AUXILIARY

Jackson-Silver Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, met for its regular meeting last Thursday. Olive Risko reported as follows:

"Among the items of business discussed was the reluctant acceptance of Bev Melville's resignation of her chairmanship of the Girls State committee. She has done such a good job for us for a number of years."

It was voted to contribute $50 each to the annual gift shop at Tugus and to the Maine Veterans' Home. Funds were also earmarked for purchase of Christmas gifts for veterans at Ledgeview Nursing Home.

"When it was learned that a young disabled veteran is coping with raising two small children by himself, it was decided to try to get them some good used clothing and to allocate funds from the Guild welfare program to be used for whatever they need most as Christmas comes around."

On Veterans' Day, Nov. 11, we will be joining the Post in the annual parade to the Honor Roll in Locke Mills. There will be a speaker, Thomas Warner, who is the commander of the second district, American Legion. Coffee and snacks will be served at the Legion Post home after the parade.

The next meeting will feature a joint presentation on flag etiquette by Herb Lyon, Americanism officer of the Post, and by his wife Mary who is the Americanism committee chairwoman of the Unit. This is scheduled for Nov. 16, 7 p.m., as a joint project of Post and Unit. It will include some musical numbers, as Mary Lyon is also our music committee chairwoman.

Prior to our Nov. 2 meeting we were able to rehearse some of these numbers using books of lyrics to patriotic numbers that Mary had compiled and had printed.

Guests at this coming meeting will be M. Jo Miete, president of the Maine department, American Legion Auxiliary; and Ann Kezal, Auxiliary president of the second district. Mrs. Miete is from Wiscasset; Mrs. Kezal from Rumford Corner.

CUB PACK #155 NEWS
With 42 new and returning Scouts, Lovell area Cub Pack #155 is off to a busy start.

Returning leaders and committee members include: Donna Woodward, Webelos 2; Vicki Royer, Webelos 1; Penny Bernier, Wolves; Nancy Gunling, treasurer.

Those returning with new titles are Sue Farrington, assistant Webelos leader; Lesley Dean, cubmaster; Mike Garvin, assistant cubmaster. New leadership includes Roseann McLaughlin and Betty Collins, Bears; Gail Graves, assistant leader and secretary; Lorraine Aniki, assistant Webelos leader; Rev. Robert Loring, pack coordinator.

At present the Pack is without a committee chairman. Dale Royer is the Pack's first den chief; the Pack is in hopes of finding four more den chiefs (Boy Scouts who help the Cubs and their leaders), and at least one den aid (teenage girls who assist the Cubs and their leaders).

On Saturday, Sept. 30, nine scouts participated in a bike-a-thon to benefit St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, followed by a bike rodeo where they had an opportunity to learn bicycle safety and law with Paul Reynolds of the Conway, N.H. Police Department; they also learned bicycle care and repair, with Randy Olson of Hillsdale Raquetball Club in So. Paris, and to show-off their prowess on their bicycles. Lorraine Aniki chaired the rodeo, Beverly Bassett chaired the bike-a-thon for St. Jude's. Other adult helpers included Lynn Johns, Penny Bernier, Robert Loring, Vicki Royer, and the Ladies of the Lovell UCC Fellowship.

On Saturday, Oct. 7, the Cubs of Pack #155 were joined by Boy Scout Troop #155 of Lovell, Cub Scout Pack #154 and Boy Scout Troop #154 of Fryeburg marching in the Fryeburg Fair Parade. The boys also had the opportunity to shake hands and chat with Gov. John McKernan and his wife, Rep. Olympia Snowe. The scouts were joined by Cubmaster John Berg and Scoutmaster Jamie Stedman, of Fryeburg, Cubmaster Lesley Dean, and Webelos Leader Vicki Royer, from the Lovell Pack and many supportive parents.

On Tuesday, Oct. 10, the Pack Committee met, with six members present. Items discussed included the Pack's attendance at the district round table; held on the first Thursday of each month at the Bridgton Town Hall for all Northern Casco Bay District Scouts. Pack #155 had the highest number in attendance in September and October and were presented ribbons to be displayed on the Pack flag.

Vicki Royer is a new member of the district training team; next Cub leader training will be held at Camp Hinds on Sept. 9.

Popcorn sales are underway, and Lynn Johns will serve as popcorn chair. The popcorn will arrive Nov. 11 and the Scouts will pick it up at the church that day.

Preliminary plans for Scouting for Food (Nov. 11 and 18) were made. Vicki Royer will serve as chair for Pack #155's part of this nationwide good turn. The Lovell Lions Club has volunteered to help the Scouts with this effort.

Child care needs for committee and den meetings were discussed. The committee will approach the Girl Scouts first in search of Den aides.

Plans were made for the next Pack meeting. Asking parents to take a bigger role in Pack meetings and special events were discussed and the year's calendar was approved.

The next committee meeting will be held Nov. 7, at the Lovell UCC.

Christmas toys needed

The Bethel Rotary Club is sponsoring its second Annual Christmas For Children in the greater Bethel area this year. The project, chaired by Rotarian Dave Murphy, is designed to benefit families who might otherwise be unable to purchase presents for their children for Christmas morning.

Last year this program raised over $3,500 and provided assistance to over 30 families in the community. Many individuals, clubs and organizations helped make this program the community success that it was. It appears likely that families in the Andover, Woodstock, Greenwood, Bethel area would benefit from continued support during the holiday season.

The fundraising aspect of the program has two basic components. Mr. Murphy has already once again contacted many organizations in the area to seek their financial support. In addition, individuals in the community are also being asked to contribute whatever they can to help in this worthwhile cause.

On Dec. 20, the last day of the program, volunteers will purchase the new toys and deliver them to a central location, where they can be picked up by families requesting assistance. All toys purchased will be traditional favorites, such as dolls, trucks, sports equipment, etc.—no Ninja Mutant Turtles or Nintendo games.

Any families seeking assistance should contact Mr. Murphy in writing as soon as possible. All requests will be kept completely confidential and should include the parents' name, address, telephone number (or, if unavailable, the telephone number of a friend or relative) and the name, sex and age of each child up to the age of 12. Requests should be mailed to Bethel Rotary Christmas For Children, P.O. Box 471, Bethel 04217.

Individuals in the community wishing to make financial donations may do so. These contributions should also be sent to the above address. Donations can also be dropped off at the Woodstock School in Bryant Pond or Prim's Pharmacy in Bethel.

Anyone wishing additional information should contact Dave Murphy at 665-2223 (office) or 824-2041 (home).

The goal of the fundraising drive this year is $5,000, to be raised in under two months. Mr. Murphy says, "Working together as a community we can make some smiles and laughter on Christmas morning. Please help us in this worthwhile cause."

Norway hospital selling memorial lights on tree

On Wednesday, Dec. 6, the Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony in front of the Hospital. The tree lighting is a very successful fund-raiser for the Auxiliary through the sale of lights.

Individuals, families and/or businesses buy lights at a cost of $5 each in memory or in honor of someone. A listing of all the memorial or honorary lights is printed in the newspaper. The monies raised are used by the Auxiliary to support programs at the hospital that benefit the citizens of the Oxford Hills area.

The tree lighting will be held at 5 p.m. on that day and is a family affair. There will be carol singing, music by the Oxford Hills High School Chorus and Band and coffee/hot chocolate and baked goodies provided by the Auxiliary in the hospital lobby.

Lights are now on sale and those interested can purchase them in the hospital coffee shop during the times it is open, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, or by contacting Auxiliary members.

For additional information, call Stephens Memorial Hospital, Community Relations Department, 743-8933.

A ROCKY START, BUT IT ONLY MADE THE VICTORY SWEETER—Telstar goalie Danielle Bernier had little chance to stop this Yarmouth penalty shot early in the Western Maine Class C Championship game last week. This goal and another soon after quickly put the Rebels down 2-0—against an opponent who had allowed only six goals all season. But the scrappy Rebels never gave up, battling back to a 2-2 tie in regulation time, and ultimately a 3-2 come-from-behind victory against the defending Western Maine Class C champions.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Executive Director Robin Zinchuk reports as follows:

The Chamber would like to congratulate one of our members, Cisco & Poncho's, for the fantastic rating and write-up that appeared in the Maine-Sunday Telegram. Great going folks.

November is going to be a busy month. The Boston Ski Show is scheduled to be held Nov. 16-19. We could use a couple more volunteers if any of our member business people would like to go and represent our area.

The first annual Bethel Area Turkey Trot is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 18, 1-4 p.m., at Gould Academy field. Rain date is Sunday, Nov. 19, same time. Grant & McGurn has joined the ranks of sponsorship of the event. They join Bethel Savings Bank, Hannaford Bros., Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Sunday River Ski Resort and Gould Academy.

There will be running races for all grades, K-12, plus four novice races for adults, one running, one walking for each men and women. First prize will be a turkey for the holiday table. There will be other prizes for participants as well. Come, join the fun—there is no entry fee. Call the Chamber, at 824-2282, for more details.

The Chamber is going to sponsor a Christmas decorating contest for businesses and residences in the SAD #44 area. We have seen some gorgeous displays in the past and I am confident the area residents and businesses can outdo themselves this year. Call the Chamber office by Thursday, Dec. 14, if you would like to enter.

We would like to remind all businesses (members, prospective members) to join us at the Holiday House, Main Street, Bethel on Tuesday, Nov. 14, 5:30-7:30, for an informal reception. Snacks and punch will be provided. Come meet with fellow business people and see the beautiful renovations done to the Holiday House by new owner Tom McInnis.

We are happy to once again light the Common in white lights this year. We need businesses or community organizations to sponsor a tree, which means to purchase the lights for the tree, plus have a volunteer on the Common on Saturday,

Nov. 25, at 9 a.m., to actually help with putting the lights on the trees. Call the Chamber if you are interested in being a sponsor.

We have already sold several mid-week season passes to our ski areas. It's an inexpensive way for Chamber members to allow themselves and their employees to ski. The pass is $350 and is also honored vacation weeks. Contact the office for details.

Welcome to our newest members: Perham's of West Paris, Carl and Jane Perham owners; R.A. Baker Construction, Randy and Marcie Baker; and Chamberlain Resort, Erik and Pam Nelson.

The Board of Directors will meet Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 a.m., for the regular monthly meeting.

Parents with children in the speech program may have a conference with Cindy Dewson, speech clinician, on Nov. 13, which is open house and parent conference day. She will be available 6-8 p.m.

The physical education program is underway five days a week until Christmas. Children should be sent to school in comfortable clothes and sneakers.

Thanks to Bob and Donna Lemieux and Laverdiere's of Rumford for their donations to the Dec. 8 AES Christmas Fair.

On Nov. 13 there will be an Open House at AES, from 12-4 p.m.; a Book Fair from 12-4 p.m.; and a board meeting at Telstar High School at 7:30 p.m. Sixty percent of the earnings at the Book Fair will go to AES to purchase books.

JACKSON-SILVER POST NEWS

Members of the American Legion Jackson-Silver Post #68 met last Thursday night for their bi-weekly meeting, at 7 p.m. Roland Lord reported as follows:

It was a pleasure and an honor to have State Commander "Ron" Salor with us to bring the Post up to date on some of the latest happenings at State headquarters. The State department has signed a contract with Maine Maritime Training Center for the next two years to have the Boys and Girls State meet at the Maritime Academy at Castine instead of at the University of Maine at Orono, as in past years.

Since the last meeting, the septic system has been pumped and the Legion hall newly painted.

It was announced during the regular business meeting that in the near future the entire proceeds for one of the auctions being held at the Legion hall will be donated to the Boy Scouts of Maine for their state campsite.

Veteran's Day observances will be held Saturday, Nov. 11—coincidentally the original Armistice Day—beginning with the flag ceremony at the hall at 8:30 a.m. The parade will be formed in the Legion yard at 9 a.m., with the Telstar band.

The next meeting of the Post will be Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. The program for this meeting will be "Flag Etiquette," conducted by Comrade Herbert Lyon, Americanism officer, and his wife Mary. All interested in this subject are urged to attend. From casual observance at our parades it would seem many could stand a little instruction along this line.

Field Hockey

2-2 tie in regulation play, then ended the Clippers' perfect season with a sudden-death overtime goal by Kristi Clement. In the Maine championship game on Saturday the ball bounced the other way, but the season was one to be proud of. "We set three goals when we started out," said co-coach Sally Hannon. "To get along well as a team, to make the playoffs, and to play for the state title—and we met all three goals."

Kris Delano's dad, Wayne, was one of the many parents who braved Saturday's cold and wind. He summed the season up during halftime: "Whichever way this game goes, these kids have to feel real good about what they've accomplished."

The young Rebel squad will lose only five seniors to graduation: Kristi Clement, Mary Beth Hannon, Shannan Tyler, Angie Jordan and Rhia Hutson. But they'll be tough players to replace. Kristi is the Rebels' leading scoring threat, while Mary Beth, Shannan and Angie—who have played together since they were freshmen—are the heart of the formidable Rebel defense.

The Rebels ended up 13-3-2 on the season, and came closer to capturing the field hockey state championship than any team since Telstar's back-to-back championships in 1977 and 1978.

Tri-Town Rescue

The auxiliary has planned a Hunters' Supper for Nov. 10, from 5:30 to 7 p.m., at the Tri-Town Rescue Barn, at Trap Corners. The menu will include baked beans, hot dogs, cole slaw, biscuits and homemade pies. The auxiliary is also selling raffle tickets on its annual Thanksgiving basket raffle. The drawing will take place Nov. 16. Some lucky winner will receive a basket stuffed with food. A turkey and a wide variety of vegetables and fruits are included in the basket. Contact any auxiliary member for raffle tickets.

Training this month is CPR recertification. Zeba Weidner has a sign-up sheet at the barn for members for Sunday, Nov. 12. The sign will spread out the classes, allowing people to move through the stations at a quicker pace.

We've been lucky so far this hunting season. A little caution goes a long way. Hunt only with people you know and trust. Unload your gun before traveling any distance and certainly before getting in your car or truck to return home. Most hunting accidents can be prevented.

The Tri-Town Board of Directors will meet Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. to work on the budget for the upcoming year. All money requests should be given to George or Linda Young prior to that meeting.

Applications available for census-taker jobs

State Senator Don Twitchell (D-Norway) is urging his constituents to make application now for census jobs that will be available in Maine beginning in January 1990.

April 1, 1990 is Census Day. To insure an accurate count in Maine, the Augusta district office of the United States Census Bureau is looking for responsible, community service-oriented people to assist with the 1990 Census in their area. Since 1980, the United States has conducted a complete census every 10 years. Today, census data is as important as ever—especially to the people of Maine. Census data provides: population counts needed to apportion seats in the U.S. House of Representatives, determine state legislative boundaries and meet the critical data needs for federal funding to the states.

Census work provides flexible working hours and fits well into most people's work and social schedules.

Census workers must be able to work 30-40 hours within a seven day work week. The length of employment varies from two to eight weeks, depending upon the operation. There will also be additional work during the year so they may be selected for more than one operation. Most census jobs will be in or around the area in which they live, so travel is kept to a minimum. The rate of pay will be $7 per hour and 24 cents per mile, with most positions starting as early as January, 1990.

To apply for census jobs, write, visit or call: Kathryn Dostie, Recruiting Operations Supervisor, U.S. Bureau of Census, 24 Stone St., Building 3 & 4, Augusta 04330; or phone 622-2804.

GROUP OFFERS SUPPORT FOR GRIEVING PARENTS

Loss through death of an infant, a stillborn birth, or miscarriage has brought a group together for mutual support, sharing of each unique experience, and reaching out to others who have suffered such a loss. Mothers and/or fathers meet on the second Thursday of each month, 7:30 p.m., in the library of Stephen's Memorial Hospital in Norway. The group is part of SHARE, a nationwide association of such parents groups.

The group welcomes newcomers. Your loss does not have to be recent, only still present. SHARE offers you a safe place where you can talk with other bereaved parents in a supportive situation. The Rev. Gwyneth Bohr, of Bethel, is the facilitator.

If you wish to know more about the group, call her at 824-2913; or call one of the convenors: Ann Button, at 539-4881 in Oxford, or Sally Berry, at 647-3757 in West Paris. The next meeting is Thursday, Nov. 9.

Mandala folk dancers return to Bethel Nov. 18

The Mahosoc Arts Council will present Boston's Mandala Folk Dance Ensemble in a celebration of dazzling dance, song, and music from around the world on Saturday, Nov. 18. Show time is 7:30 p.m. at Telstar auditorium.

Mandala's 32 dancers and musicians will take the audience on a global tour complete with colorful, authentic costumes.

The name "Mandala" means "circle of life" in the Indian language Sanskrit, and the award-winning Mandala Ensemble, now in its 23rd year, draws audiences into exotic and fanciful worlds, encircling them with the energy and enthusiasm of folk expression. The program ranges from the masked clowning of the Mexican "Lost Viejos" (little old men) to the striking melodies and rhythms of Macedonian dance.

Mandala will welcome its audience with a joyful Ukrainian greeting-ritual, then mesmerize with the breathtaking beauty of an Armenian canopy dance in which the woman's graceful gliding is enhanced by costumes little-changed from Byzantine times.

Mandala is equally adept at splashing a line of swirling Portuguese skirts across the stage and sharing the stately elegance of Norwegian turning dances.

Of course, the program would not be complete without a visit to the U.S.—from the foot-stomping exuberance of Appalachian fiddling and clogging to reliving the 1960's era on stage, as a group of bobby-soxers "rock around the clock" in saddle shoes and pony tails.

The Ensemble has performed throughout Europe and the United States and has been the subject of two full-length television features. The ensemble's performance in Bethel three years ago was sold out.

The performance is funded, in part, by a grant from the New England Foundation for the Arts, with support from the U.N.U.M. Charitable Foundation, the Maine Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Tickets are $6 for adults and $2 for children under 18. Call 824-3575 for information.

PARTY A 'HOWLING' SUCCESS

Telstar Band Director Harry Davis will be surveying parents to get their input for next year's Halloween Howl. Mr. Davis said last week's "howl" was a great success, and he hopes to make next year's even better.

Approximately 300 area youngsters attended last week's "howl," which is a fundraiser for the band.

DESPITE THE RAIN, Mrs. Fort's Junior Kindergarten, at Ethel Bisbee School, paraded around town, as did Mrs. Otero's 1st Grade. (Photo by Jeanne Boelsma)

MRS. COUSINS' CLASS took a field trip to see the scary Halloween display that Louis Paul had set up at his West Bethel home. There were spiders and bats and skeletons, and the witch above.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

Nov. 3 and a dark rainy day. The weatherman said that our beautiful weather has gone for this year. Hunting season for Maine people begun Oct. 28. Haven't heard of anyone on our road getting one.

The 28th, George, Frankie, Theresa and I went to Auburn to the Village Inn and were met by Wilfred and Kim. After we went to Wilfred and Kim's in Lewiston, as Theresa wanted to see Kim's ferrets. When we got back to West Bethel, we stopped into Mr. and Mrs. Louis Paul's to see his animated Halloween display, as Theresa would be heading back to Massachusetts Sunday. It was fun to see from his talking witch brewing her brew to the fence covered with spiders with little eyes which would sway back and forth with hands ready to grab you. Theresa really got a kick out of it.

Then Sunday I picked up Kristen and then Kim in West Paris (she had brought up Wilfred's truck to have work done). We took Kristen to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Greene, and then went to Norway where they were giving a baby shower for Kristin. After I took Kim home where we had supper and then headed for my sister, Marion and Ben Tucker, in Roadfield.

Monday we hung around remembering old times and she made me coffee cakes to bring home for the holidays. We did have quite a few people drop in. Tuesday I headed home and was almost home before the rain began. Of course Tuesday night was Halloween and not too many drive down on our road; but did hear the ones on the main drag got a lot and that a lot of them were dressed up extra cute.

Wednesday went to Norway and had dinner with my sister, Iva Holden, and brother, John Allen. You see when the cat's away the mouse does play.

Joyce Stearns has been substituting for Phyllis Blake at Ethel Bisbee as Phyllis has been out because of her mother's death.

The Chapmans—Frank, Ida, Howard, Mack, Nick, Sam, Brady, Mary and Erroll—went to the open house reception for Mr. and Mrs. Tony Chapman Oct. 29. The weather was so warm, those who wished were able to sit outdoors.

John and Jen Shaw, children of Lenny and Becky Shaw, went to a Halloween party at Telstar, and the Sunday before went to a party at the Methodist Church. Lenny and Becky Shaw visited Don Cross and Jean Anton at Locke Mills.

Oct. 31, Becky Shaw went to Portland for an appointment and shopping. Nathan Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bean, was home from his studies at John Hopkins in Maryland, Oct. 20-25.

Sarah Coolidge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Coolidge, was in the math meet at Telstar. Twelve other schools participated and Telstar was second.

Homer and Edith Smith went to East Conway, N.H., Oct. 28 in the afternoon, to babysit their grandchildren, Zack and Mary Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith attended a wedding in which Larry was best man. Homer and Edith came home Sunday.

Andrew Smith was able to get three partridges Thursday.

Evelyn Hilborn recently returned from her home in Toronto, Ontario. While there she visited several friends and took a trip to a friend's in northern Ontario. The weather was warm and the foliage still beautiful. Her brother, Norman's father-in-law, died of a heart attack while he and his wife were on a seniors tour of California. Everyone there was kind and helpful to the widow, before returning to Canada.

Tuesday, Oct. 31, Evelyn attended a delicious birthday luncheon at Frances Farnum's for Louie Coffin, of West Paris. Thursday, Frances Farnum and Millie Thomas went with Evelyn to Gorham and Berlin, N.H., shopping and lunch at Northland's.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Locke Mills Ladies Circle will meet on Nov. 15 and they will be setting up for the fall sale, Nov. 17. Keep this date in mind.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary Craft Fair will be coming up the first Saturday in December.

There were over 70 trick-or-treaters at my house Halloween, I'm not fond of the holiday because of the strange, sometimes wild, things that go on. A holiday devoted to witches, goblins and demons makes any Christian disciple cringe, but I do enjoy the children. I only wish I knew more of them these days. Except for the children of a few friends, they are all unfamiliar faces.

Lorene and Preston Cobb and the children stopped in for a short visit which we enjoyed. Haven't had many young people in until I was sure I was no longer contagious. I don't want anyone getting mono, and certainly not from me.

I was pleased to be able to get to church Sunday for the first time in eight weeks. It was Pastor Van Horn's last Sunday and I really was glad I could make it.

Sylvia Clark and Charlotte Cole were in Westbrook visiting Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Cole a couple weeks ago. They enjoyed dinner with them.

John and Lorraine Mills were in Norway Friday evening to pick up a birthday present for John, who was celebrating his 83rd birthday. The weather was terrible but we made it down and back.

Vera Cross and Charlotte Cole went to Cozy Inn on Wednesday. They had dinner there, visited Roger and Amy Hanson, and Charlotte played for the guests at the home.

By MIRIAM INMAN

Mrs. Mary Bessey, Livermore, has been visiting her sister, Ann Proctor and family, several days.

Ivan Proctor returned Tuesday night after attending the Rural Letter Carriers' Association meeting of national secretaries, in Washington, D.C.

Hunters from here who have been in Albany this week are: Vance Bacon, Milton and Gregg Inman, Joe Perham, Vernon and Walter Inman.

Much sympathy is extended to Lorenzo (Rennie) Cole and family due to his wife Mona's death. They were long-time residents of this town.

Granite Chapter #115, O.E.S., will meet on Thursday, Nov. 9, for a 8 p.m. potluck supper and meeting. This will be the annual Talent Auction night and all Star Points will be honored.

On Tuesday, Nov. 14, the E.B. Forbes-Goodwill Group will meet at Goodwill Hall for a snack lunch at noon. They will be preparing articles for the fall sale, which will be on Thursday, Nov. 16. The hostesses will be Olga Gillatt, Martha Day and Esther Davis.

Hunters Gordon Doughty, Roland and Paul Dunham have been in Greenwood for the week. Haven't heard of any lucky ones in Greenwood or Albany.

Local photographers exhibit work at library

During the month of November, three local photographers will be showing their work at the Bethel Library.

Dawn Brackett and Merton Brown, of Bethel, along with Lynn Stevens, of Rum-ford Center, have selected several of their color photos for public viewing. The nearly 50 pieces of work include animals, flowers, children, and landscapes.

The hours of the library are Tuesday 1-5, Wednesday 1-5 and 6-8, Thursday 1-5, Friday, 4-8 and Saturday 1-5. Contact Merton Brown, at 824-2747.

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Reader:

It's been a little more than a year since I first wrote. I know that you read me, because my "plants" tell me so. My question is, "why don't you answer?" Why don't you call or write once in a while to let me know how you're doing or what you're doing?

It's the life that you probably take for granted that I find so intriguing. Your daily comings and goings are the stuff of which stories are woven. The wool and the warp of your life at the mill or in the woods or on the road are the threads that bind the community. When you help a neighbor or shuffle cards with a shut-in or knit for the needy, the rest of us are impressed. And if you were to impart some of this "info" to me, your correspondent, you'd be helping me to preserve on paper a unique way of life.

For example, just this past week, I have been a bit player in a number of "short subjects." I saw what was left of a beef critter shortly after slaughter, as he hung to drain onto the barn floor. I hovered briefly over his heart, sitting useless in a dishpan, while his liver lingered on a hook nearby. Fortunately for me, the head that had turned to watch me walk by only a few days before, was severed and served up to the gods of the woods by the time I arrived.

For the Flat Road Merrills, this is routine. For years, Alfred and Margaret and their family "dressed" the field with beef critters (not to be confused with milkers). So, when the time came to cash in on the crop, "off to slaughter" meant across the road to the barn. That's what is different and intriguing, I guess. Back in my other life, cattle raised for beef arrived at an abattoir, probably by train, got sliced into steaks, and appeared in plastic wrap in a supermarket before any of us laid eyes on them. No one knew where they ate, or what they ate, or how big they were, or what kind of temperament lived beneath their hairy hides. I guess it's just another example of the impersonal attitude of progress.

As the week progressed, Halloween arrived. And again, there was a treat in store for all of us. Donald and I served up our confection to the callers and then headed out to the village to see what lurked in the dooryard of Florice and Louise Paul. We had heard from the neighbors that there was bound to be a special spookiness about the place, but we were not prepared for the elaborate display that we encountered. There were talking witches, quivering branches, slithering spiders, ghosts and goblins galore. The cornstalks moved; the walkway wiggled; the graveyard groaned. A remote-controlled rat had the run of the driveway, while a couple of dooryard demons greeted all who dared to tread. It was truly an eerie event of electronic elegance. Thanks, L. and F.

This week has been one of frantic preparation. The West Bethel Union Church Fair takes place (it will be a fait accompli by the time this rolls off the press) for a two-hour rush. In an effort to contribute, I rush from the sewing machine in the dining room to the knitting needles in the kitchen, to the paint table in the sunroom. I leave a mitten to put windows on a wooden church/napkin holder, or stop at the Elina long enough to add a sash to an apron. And when there was an extra minute, I tried to sit quietly and embroider the padded pizza on Richard's company apron so that he could hang it on his newly opened shop wall as a logo look-alike.

RETIRETEACHERS MEETING

The Oxford County Retired Teachers will meet at the South Paris Methodist Church on Saturday, Nov. 18. Social period starts at 10:30; the business meeting at 11:15.

The afternoon program will be presented by Dr. Keith Buzzell on "A Satisfying Life after 65." The scholarship fundraiser will be a $1 donation with door prizes.

Compared to the frenzy of this past week, the next one will be a piece of cake, actually pie. We will be preparing a boiled dinner at the Pleasant Valley Grange hall on Saturday, Nov. 11. So each of us will pare the veggies, boil the beef, and prepare the pies, in anticipation of a good crowd of discriminating diners. The "public supper," as it's known in local circles, will be the Fall frosting on a year of fundraising events that have swelled the coffers and allowed us to replace all the old tables and some of the chairs. We won't stop until everyone can perch on a smooth seat that will not demand an offering of a piece of skirt or trousers in exchange for respite.

Speaking of respite, it would appear that a partridge or two have sought out our acreage as a sanctuary. Twice this week I have seen good-sized grouse types pecking placidly on the lawn. Perhaps they sense that they are safe in these circles, will be the Fall frosting on a year of fundraising events that have swelled the coffers and allowed us to replace all the old tables and some of the chairs. We won't stop until everyone can perch on a smooth seat that will not demand an offering of a piece of skirt or trousers in exchange for respite.

So the partridges who come to the Malmesbury will live to tell hunting stories to next year's chicks. That may not be the case for the deer in this dale. As I walk the county road, I see signs of a few who cross my path. There are tracks lining the soft shoulder as if they travel in phalanx formation; these are probably from overlapping days, according to my hunter friends, and I should check for numbers after a good rain. Numbers notwithstanding, there are deer on the move in these mountains; Alfred stopped one in her tracks just the other day.

I must stop rambling and gather up my fair wares. But before I go, I'll hold the flag on the new flagpole. Rupert fashioned it from a stately cedar; Ina painted it; Donald set it on the hill across from the dooryard. Thanks to Grover's generosity, we can "run up the colors" as we greet each new day.

Continue to greet each day and each other with a smile, dear readers. Call me with your "scoops" and your experiences. Share your story with me so that I can share it with the readers beyond the village. They are really interested in what we think and do.

Thanks for being there.

Love,
C.B.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

I'm writing of a day of Indian Summer—a day of golden beauty. The morning sunshine warmed the crisp air, the dew shimmered thick on the grass, and the thin clouds were misting the shine on the pond. To my left in the pond I could see trees, trees, mirror images. How soft and still the autumn landscape appeared. The mossy stones were encrusted with gems. Looking away through the trees I was robbed momentarily of the sunlight. I could hear the listening pines nod, as a restless harp played in endless melody across their boughs. What glorious weather we were having.

I climbed the hill of the farm-field with Mary and Holly-dog one day. From the hilltop other hills stood tall against the sky, tawny and warm in autumn's embrace; just a few now were decked in frills of golden lace. Autumn is a lovely sight and I was happy to see this little girl by my side enjoying the sight. One tree alone can concentrate the beauty of a whole woodland.

She discovered one bird and asked several questions about it. She will remember, for she is like sunbeams on water or a rainbow in the blue. What she sees or learns are her remembrances to shine for a lifetime through.

We followed October's trail today. It led through fields and far away. There were colored hills where vapor rose, which only a day in October knows. A country lane is one of the most appealing of Nature's pictures. The walls and fences resemble gray stitching on the landscape. Goldenrod heads were gray and bleached. The tall stalks of mullein stood above the frost-brown grasses. In places, milkweed pods were sending forth their snowy down.

So here we stood upon the brink of summer and the fall enjoying the tranquility and wonder of it all. Mother Nature shares her gold; she uses so much of it: goldenrods, goldenrods, golden pumpkins, golden corn, golden apples, golden squashes, golden grain and more.

Golden sunbeams gleam in the morning. Golden days slide into nights made golden the glow of the harvest moon, which makes gleaming pathways on the water.

MRS. SMITH'S Kindergartners at Woodstock School made pumpkin cookies recently. Above, they're decorating them.

Mary, Holly and I spread our gold as we walked and talked. Our gold was smiles, happiness, and like sunshine always bring a warm glow. We were sharing golden memories, golden moments; making ours vibrantly alive. Yes, we too shared our gold!

I had a surprise visit from Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Avery and Gladys Millett, from Pittsfield, N.H. They had been to visit Arlene Farr, Rena Kujala and other family members in West Paris.

The Halloween ghosts and black cats were out on their night. One group was surprised to see "my pet" black and white "kitty" by my garage. This skunk comes out every evening to eat the food which I leave for him. I have seen him several times and he eats everything I leave—meat, bread, cake and milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt and daughter, Jenny, Windsor; and Ann Holt, Bethel, were at their parents, Leonas and Fay Holt, on Sunday.

Leonas, Fay and I were in Berlin, N.H., on Thursday. Nestor and Katie Tanninen will celebrate their 60th anniversary party at West Paris Grange Hall on Saturday, Nov. 11, 1-4 p.m. Everyone here wishes them the best.

Looks better than it did last night but still cloudy and could be more showers this morning, maybe. It sure was a wet Halloween for the youngsters to get out trick or treating. Hope no one got any candy or apples or anything else. Children don't need those things handed to them. I hope all had a good Halloween and won't get tummy aches from eating candy. It's not that good for them at all. Peggy and Bertha Benoit, of West Paris, headed for Bangor and the State Grange last Wednesday around noon. They were some busy while there, I guess, by what Peggy said. Started sessions early and stayed late into the evening. I know she was some tired when she got home on Sunday. They were through on Saturday night but as it was late, she didn't want to try to drive home at that hour. It is about a three-hour drive and she just didn't want to take any chances of falling asleep while driving.

Viola took me to the doctor's last Wednesday so I could get my back treated. It had a spell of acting up and needed attention.

Thursday, Russell and I went to town to do some errands and to get a book he ordered at Books 'n Things. He had ordered a book on Natural Healing Through Macrobiotics and it is a most interesting book for anyone to read. I have read it through and found a lot of information to help if one wants to use what they read. We are hoping that through this diet we can get rid of good old arthritis and move more easily. I wouldn't believe it could work but have seen the results in a few people and it gives me hope that it will work for Russell and me. Besides, we are enjoying the new tastes of food that I prepare at times, so it may all work out for the best in the long run. At least we hope so.

Friday was a long and tiring day for us as we went to see the Certified Consultant in Macrobiotics, who lives in Kingfield. We had Viola take us to Wynona's in Lewiston first as she didn't want to leave home before Courtney went to school a little after 7:30 in the morning and would have had to had she met us here at 8:00. We left home a little before 7:00, and when we got to Wynona's she was ready, so we left in just a few minutes and headed for Kingfield. Donald Randall of Augusta was at Wynona's and was going with us to show us where Corrine lived. He had some goodies to take to her as he and his wife have been to her for help in this diet. We took Rte. 4 and went up through to Farmington and then on to Kingfield, getting there just about the time we were scheduled for, 10 o'clock.

We were both having massages so I went first and, believe me, Corrine found the sore spots alright. There are what they call meridians in your system where the energy flows to the different organs in your body and she works them to get them working better. She is a very small woman but has the strength she needs and can do lots of work. She was crippled up at one time so knows what it is to have a lot of pain and discomfort. After the massages were over, we put

Scouts collecting food as part of national effort

This coming weekend, Bethel Boy Scout Troop #565 will take part in Scouting for Food Good Turn, a nationwide effort to collect food for the needy. The goal is to collect 100 tons of food.

On Saturday, Nov. 11, the Scouts will distribute food bags at local homes. The following Saturday, Nov. 18, they will pick up the bags, hopefully filled with food. The food collected will go to the local food bank.

our lunch with hers and all had a nice time while eating. She had told me that there were no restaurants nearby so I had planned on taking enough for all of us to have to eat but didn't expect to be invited to sit down and eat with her. However, it was a good time. But we were sure tired when we got home. We didn't leave there until 2:30 or a little after so it was late when we got here and Nonie and Don still had to get home. What a day.

Saturday was another of those beautiful days we had last week and we went to town to do some unfinished business. Russell and I both were so tired from the day before that we didn't feel like doing much at all and didn't. He did not even attempt to find a way to go to the dance; he was so tired.

Russell has built a covering over the new oil tank that we have had put up out back to help keep the snow and ice off it. We have also been putting up the rest of the pumpkins to have for use during the winter months. It all helps when it comes to groceries and where we eat mostly vegetables plus the whole grains now, the vegetables are a necessity. Fresh ones are better but we will eat what we have been able to put up and be grateful for them.

Peggy didn't get home until late in the afternoon on Sunday as she and Bertha had stopped in a place or two on the way home. They were weary travelers but had a good time at State Grange and learned a lot so that is what the trip was all about.

Russell has taken advantage of the good weather we have had and worked outside doing what had to be done. Where it rained yesterday, it was a perfect day to work on pumpkins and take care of some. However, we still have a little left to do. Hopefully, we will get it done today.

Glen Verge, from Nashua, N.H., called on Mary Lovejoy and family this past weekend. Always a welcome visit.

Mary Lovejoy was in Bethel last Friday and called on Helena Bartlett at the Bethel House.

No other Grange news as they are having a meeting on Thursday and their sale this Saturday. I hope they have good luck and make money for the Grange.

Take care one and all and have a good week. Hope you have all enjoyed the good weather we have had.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

After two weeks of the most beautiful weather, it rained on our parade. Our annual Halloween parade had to be canceled due to pouring rain. The children were disappointed, but we dressed up anyway with some really neat costumes. Spooky stories were told, games were played and refreshments were enjoyed.

Classroom news this week includes learning the letter F in Kindergarten. The children made their letters in sand trays. Christopher Knox's mom continues to volunteer one morning per week to help individuals work on their letters. One Halloween game that was great fun, was pin the nose on the witch.

The 1st-graders had just finished carving their pumpkin when the morning Kindergarten class paraded in to show off their costumes. They remained to see the pumpkin lighted. In reading, Mrs. Loper is stressing holiday books during November and December. In January they will go back to their author-of-the-month. As part of their signs of fall, the class is learning what animals do in fall to get ready for winter. In math, students are contracting for work with the numbers 4, 5, and 6. Manipulative materials are used and children complete several activities with one number, before contracting for the next.

The 2nd-graders also carved a pumpkin and immediately became involved in math activities. They measured the circumference of the pumpkin. They estimated and counted the actual number of seeds inside. Jessica Farrar is the student-of-the-week. We hope lots of good things happen for her all week long.

The 3rd-graders are learning the four food groups in Science. They are working with rhyming words and they are beginning to learn cursive writing.

Fourth-graders are learning about the Underground Railroad. Maine was an important part of this endeavor, with participating stations that helped runaway slaves. Mr. Litchfield is reading "By Secret Railway" to the class. Their unit test on electricity was completed on Thursday.

Grade 5 has started a new science unit on rocks. Several samples have been brought in already. We are beginning our CAP, Children Are People, drug abuse prevention unit. Our next book report will involve a group discussion rather than a written report.

Grade 6 has finished their class book, Track Everlasting, and thoroughly enjoyed it. Mrs. Eleanor Tracy, our social studies coordinator, was visiting the class when the social studies projects were being presented. Everyone was pleased with the projects.

This past Friday, Mr. Vernon Inman visited the 8th Grade with a presentation about the Benjamin Franklin Stamp KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN FROM THE WOODSTOCK SCHOOL had a field trip to Littlefield's Apple Orchard recently. The children picked apples and brought them back to school to make applesauce and apple cider.

Club. Mr. Inman's knowledge and enthusiasm was catching and several students expressed interest in joining my stamp club. Mr. Inman stayed through the afternoon and gave another presentation to stamp club members from all grades.

Other school business and news is that banking will be taking place every Wednesday with the Oxford Bank and Trust Company.

Computers are being ordered with our candy sale money. Individual student prizes will be coming in the second week of November.

There are lots of activities going on in our gymnasium after school and evenings. Basketball with Jeff Guilford takes place on Wednesday from 5-7 p.m. YM-CA gymnastics has begun and meets on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3-5 p.m. We are making plans to have Agnes Gray sweatshirts available before Christmas. Watch for order forms to be coming home.

Ranks close Friday, Nov. 3. It will take awhile for grades to be averaged and reports filled out, but these reports should be coming home within 10 days.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The Bethel Historical Society's annual "What's It?" and Collectibles Night was held last Thursday at the Moses Mason House. Items ranging from a bead loom for beadwork to a telephone from Ernest Perkins' collection of telephones that were once in the Bethel Inn from its earliest days were on display and were discussed by those who brought them in and by those attending. Following this portion of the program, a video, "Woodmen and River Drivers," was shown. In honor of Thanksgiving, refreshments included a variety of pumpkin pies.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Marvin Owings announced that the next meeting would feature the Society's annual "Christmas with the Masons," an evening of old-time Christmas music, food and early 19th century decorations. The program will also highlight the annual slide show of old photos copied during the past year, as well as slides of Society events. The "gift of the month" was announced as the collection of survey notes of William Straw Hastings (1901-1943), which contain much data on the Bethel area. These were given by his children, Barbara Hastings Honkala, Bethel, William G. Hastings, Gorham, N.H., and Edward A. Hastings, Billings, Mont. The president announced that the 1989 Endowment Campaign had passed the $7,000 mark, from nearly 300 donors.

On Sunday, Nov. 5, the Society's Museum Committee held the annual dinner honoring volunteers who assisted with the museum and gardens. Museum Committee head Judith Haskell thanked all those who helped make the 1989 season such a success. Society Director Stanley Howe also expressed his gratitude to all the volunteers, especially those who have been associated with the Society for so long. Preparing the dinner were Museum Committee members Judy Haskell, Laurie Hoch, Millie Thomas, Rosalind Chapman, Agnes Haines and Floribel Haines. Those honored included Sylvia Wight, Persis Post, Lois Burgess, Connie Thurston, Mary Faine, Mary Keniston, Jo Monahan, Geraldine Howe, Olive Anderson, Jim Anderson, Eleanor Pugliese, Amy Davis, Helen Morton, Margaret Joy Tibbetts, Tineke Owings, Barbara Herick Brown, Gertrude Hutchins, Arlene Lowell, Stacie Vachon, and Joyce Wanger. Also assisting with the museum in 1989 were Green Thumb staff members Betty Lord and Ruth Silver, plus Millie Jackson of the Society office staff, and Curator of collections, Randall Bennett.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: At the November monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society, Margaret Joy Tibbetts made a presentation on the history of the Bethel Library Association, founded in 1873. Portraits of J.G. Rich, famed guide, and his wife Mary were presented to the Society by Gertie Bartlett. Melanie Swan was selected as the 1979 Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award.

Births: Darcie P. Morse.
20 Years Ago: Open house was held at Telstar Regional High School in honor of National Education Week. Plans were underway to merge the Bethel Water District with the West Bethel water system. Vandals caused over $2,000 worth of damage to the old cemetery on Patch Mountain, in Greenwood. Authorities were investigating a break at the Western Auto store in Bethel, in which thieves stole $1,195 worth of guns, ammunition and a watch.

Deaths: Robert J. Swain, James M. Loring, Jr., Gertrude A. Rich, Mildred Dunham.
30 Years Ago: The balance in the Town of Bethel's winter roads account was nearly exhausted. The Lions Club was planning to continue its Christmas lights program.

Births: Dawn M. Kneeland, Cathy C. Kneeland.
Deaths: Homer E. Crocker, Estella I. Millett, Edith Y. Penley.

40 Years Ago: The Bethel booth at the Rumford Community Hospital's annual fair netted about $200. The Bethel Water Company applied to the Public Utilities Commission for a rate increase in all categories. The hydrant rate had remained the same for more than 60 years.

Deaths: Chester Oliver, Cassandra Cole.

50 Years Ago: The P.R. Burns store, at Main and Church streets, was opened as a Clover Farm Store. The clothes pin mill of Penley Brothers at West Paris burned. Everett Groaton, of the Maine Development Commission spoke at the Bethel Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Elderwood Manor Items
by Florence Hall

Callers at Alma Hewey's were Harriet Stowell, West Bethel, George Stowell, Jr., Falmouth, Marion Bodwell, Bethel, Minnie Akers, Andover, and daughter Louise Powell, Hale.

Mary Thurston called on Gertrude Hutchins and Catherine McGuire. She and Elizabeth Stowell went to dinner and shopping on Wednesday.

Over 50 ghosts and goblins were treated at the Manor Halloween evening. Florence Hall and Anne Fox went as guests with eight other Andover Church ladies to the Locke Mills Church for a delicious dinner and musical entertainment.

Flora Whitten breakfasted out with granddaughters on Thursday morning. Joy Hall, Ashburnham, Mass., called on Florence Hall, Sylvia Akers, Natick, Mass., visited Florence Hall recently.

Louis and Judy Hall, Roxbury, called on Florence Hall Wednesday evening. Bus riders to Rumford Wednesday were: Catherine McGuire and Gladys Chatter.

Catherine McGuire is visiting her sister, Laura Staples, for a few days in Portland.

Tenants at the Manor enjoyed the Halloween parades from the school. Thank you for coming.

Thought for the day: Half our troubles come from wanting to have our own way. The other half comes from being allowed to have it.

FORD GIVES COMPUTER ADVICE

Mark Ford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Ford, of Bethel, has been named technical consultant of the student-run newspaper at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt. He is a junior journalism major.

Mark is responsible for instructing editors in the use of the computers as well as identifying and solving computer difficulties.

St. Michael's College, founded in 1904, has been identified as one of the five best small comprehensive colleges in the nation. MISS NEWCOMB'S 5th Grade at Crescent Park School has been reading the book "Follow My Leader," by Jason Garfield. It is the story of a blind boy and his guide dog. Recently, Fat Sarchi, of Norway, and her guide dog Gem visited the class and answered questions. Student Missy Gaskey enjoyed making friends with Gem.

North Paris

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

The North Paris Community Club would like to thank everyone who cooked, donated money and helped in any way to make our supper so successful, and to those who faithfully came—and hope they enjoyed the supper.

Saturday, Nov. 11, there will be a 60th anniversary party for Nestor and Katie Tamminen, of Greenwood, at the West Paris Grange Hall, 1-4 p.m., and a money tree.

Scott Isley was home for the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Isley.

Monday, Oct. 30, I visited Mary Knight and Roy Silver at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

The trick-or-treaters were so cute. Hard to tell who they were unless they took their masks off.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy have been at their trailer for several days.

Wednesday, Nov. 1, what a beautiful rainbow.

Callers have been Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Joanne and Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Record, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thayer and Jason, Richard Felt.

Beryl Oja is with her daughter Beth, taking care of the children while they move to Massachusetts.

Newry

By GIL SEELY

The Newry Mother's Club will meet Monday evening, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m., at the Newry Municipal Building with Cindy Moxey presiding. The snack committee will be Betsy Clark, Nancy Wright and Olive Anderson.

Theresa G. Toti, of Harrisville, R.I., spent the weekend with her Aunt Gil Seely, celebrating her 62nd birthday.

The ladies of Newry who went bowling at the Oxford Lanes, in Rumford, were: Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seely, Louise Tetley, Bea Lowell, Thelma Lowery, Olive Anderson, and June Swan. Rena Powers was a guest. Thelma won on the triples, beating Karlene by four points; she also was high on the singles, beating Karlene by two points. All went to lunch and then some shopping.

Word has been received that Louise Learned, of Newry, is in the Stephen's Memorial Hospital with a probable serious injury on her hip when she fell down. Anyone who wishes to see her or send a card, this is the address: 80 Main St., Norway 0288.

Cheerfulness is an offshoot of goodness and of wisdom.

P.S. It's time to say goodbye to all that good stuff from the garden—amen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Romano, of Hahn Air Force Base, Germany, left last week to return home by Boston after spending time here in Newry visiting her parents, Karlene and Reggi Bachelder, and Warwick, R.I., visiting with his parents, and also Brent Bachelder in Providence, R.I.

Michelle O'Donnell, Claire's daughter returned to her studies at Connecticut College after her visit here. Michelle is specializing in languages and other programs.

There will be a food sale Friday, Nov. 17, at the I.G.A., starting at 10 a.m., to benefit the Newry's Mother Club.

Members are urged to donate food; also anyone else in town who wants to give some. The club would like some member volunteers calling and picking up the food; also help at the sale. Thank you.

Matt and Donna Wight and family visited his parents, Sue and Owen Wight, last weekend.

Bryant Pond

By ALICE HOYT

Judith Grover Tent #17 will meet on Monday, Nov. 13, for a regular meeting and nomination of officers. Refreshments committee is Edith Hathaway and Sally Sawyer, Program Committee—Althea Stevens and Alice Hoyt.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens met on Thursday, with 41 present. An interesting program by Ted Forbes, from Wilderness Medical Associates, was presented. A turkey dinner was served at noon by the W.H.S. Alumni.

The Woodstock Historical Society will meet on Saturday, Nov. 11. There will be someone telling about the plans for the 175th anniversary of the town.

We had about 45 trick-or-treat children on Tuesday.

The November meeting of the Woodstock Extension will be Wednesday, Nov. 15, at the Town Office annex. Placements will be the program. Kathleen Billings is the leader. Brown bag lunch/dessert, Annie Crockett and Carolyn Taylor.

Meeting starts at 10:30 a.m.

The sermon at the Newry Community Church last Sunday was "Saints and Sinners." Rodney Hanscom read verses from Psalms 21:1-7, Acts 11:19-26 and Luke 18:9-14.

Brian Hanscom visited his aunt and uncle, Ruth and Arthur Cummings, in Bethel.

Nada and Verne Glover were in Newry last week and visited Amy and Roger Hanscom at the nursing home. Gillette Seely and Louise Tetley visited Amy and Roger on Monday. We brought Amy a plant.

Bill and Sylvia Wight have been in Shrewport, La., for the reunion of the company of the 70th Division.

Steve Wight, Bill and Sylvia Wight attended the supper and meeting of the municipal officers at Bryant Pond.

Norman and Louise Tetley left for Floral City, Fla., last Saturday. Suzanne Hayner will be staying in their home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Javier Acebedo

PEGGY ROY MARRIES IN N.Y.

Peggy Lynn Roy and Javier Acebedo were married Aug. 26 in an evening ceremony at the United Methodist Church, in Jackson Hts., N.Y.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roy of Bethel. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Acebedo of Jackson Hts.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor-length dress of pale pink satin and white lace adorned with pearls, which was hand made by the groom's mother, Mrs. Graciela Acebedo.

She carried a cascading bouquet of miniature white carnations and pink roses with baby's breath.

Annemarie (Saunders) Peck was the matron of honor. Fernando Acebedo, brother of the groom, was the best man.

Alex and Teresa Arias and Orest and Catherine Mandy were bridesmaids and groomsmen. "Lost In Your Eyes" and

"Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" were performed in the church by Terri Chapman of Kentucky.

A reception was held following the ceremony at Dante's, in Jackson Hts. Mr. and Mrs. Acebedo are now residing in Astoria, N.Y.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Telstar Regional High. She is employed as a sales service coordinator and assistant to the vice-president at Shorewood Packaging Corp., in New York City.

The groom is a 1983 graduate of Newtown High, in Jackson Hts., N.Y. He served four years in the Army as a computer programmer. After reaching the grade of sergeant and getting an honorable discharge, he is now employed as a computer and communications technical supervisor for Bergdorf Goodman in New York City. He is also attending evening college classes to obtain his Computer Science degree.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

What's the world coming to? Hurricanes! Earthquakes! Often called natural phenomenon — sometimes "Mother Nature."

A look at God's word tells us about "a severe earthquake occurred at Christ's crucifixion," Matthew 28:2. The imprisonment and release of Paul and Silas, Act 16:22, "a great earthquake came."

Genesis 7:4 tells of heavy rain. "God spoke, 'I will send rain on the earth and I will blot out man and animals from the earth.'" Wind — "then God caused a wind to pass over the earth and the rain subsided." Matthew 8:27, speaking of Jesus, "even the winds and sea obey Him."

Oh, now! Can it be that God is in control of weather and not natural disasters nor "Mother Nature"? Does God permit Satan to exercise some power and bring about tragedies, troubles and diseases?

Isaiah 29:6, "From the Lord of Hosts you will be punished with thunder and earthquakes and loud noises." Psalm 116, "Upon the wicked He will rain coals of fire, brimstone and burning wind."

What about the Christians? Matthew 5:45, "— for He causes His sun to rise on the evil and good, and sends rain on the righteous and unrighteous."

Hurricanes, terrible rains, floods, diseases, pests — Exodus 10, plague of locusts brought by an east wind, with frogs, hail are a part of God's judgment upon people who refuse His love.

God is King over all, prophecy of years ago holds true for today — Zechariah 14, "earthquakes like never before, prior to God's reign." Revelation 16, prophecy vs. 18, "flashes of lightning, peaks of thunder, a great earthquake such as man has ever known," vs. 21 "and huge hail stones about 100 lbs. in weight," a plague of hail.

October 1989, 2 Timothy 3, "but realize this, that in the last days difficult times will come, for men will be lovers of money, boastful, arrogant, revilers, disobedient to parents, ungrateful, unholy, unloving, irreconcilable, malicious gossipers without self control, brutal, haters of good, treacherous, reckless, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than God," etc.

Let us pray, fellow believers, and be worthy of our calling. Revival may yet come upon our nation. For, "the Lord is patient, not wishing for any to perish, but for all to come to repentance," vs. 10, "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a roar and the elements will be destroyed with intense heat, and the earth and its works will be burned up."

MDOT begins night road patrols to spot dangers

Beginning last Saturday, the night patrol of the Maine Department of Transportation began its annual task of keeping a winter watch on Maine's highways.

The patrols, which are in their 96th season, cover the majority of the 3,400 miles of highway plowed by the state—including nearly 240 miles of interstate highway—alerting plowing and sanding crews when a storm moves into their patrol areas.

John Dority, director of MDOT's Bureau of Maintenance and Operations, points out that the night patrol will operate only on nights when inclement weather is likely. On clear, calm nights or during storms when plowing and sanding crews are already working, night patrol personnel will perform other duties at DOT garages and maintenance facilities.

In addition to calling out plowing and sanding crews, night patrol personnel carry sand to cover icy patches of highways at dangerous locations and are prepared to provide assistance to motorists in distress. Last year, the night patrol assisted 138 stranded motorists.

Through their tours of duty, night patrol personnel contact MDOT division offices by radio at least once every hour to report weather and road conditions. Every two hours, division offices forward the information to MDOT headquarters in Augusta. Five times each day, the Augusta office provides statewide information to MDOT division offices.

Latest reports on local highway conditions and the statewide report are available to news services and to the general public through MDOT's road condition reporting service could do so according to the following schedule: Division VII, the Dixfield Division Office, is on Rte. 2, telephone 562-4228 and 562-4229. The office is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Late statewide reports are available after 6 a.m., 10 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. every day of the week. Reports are available at any time, day or night, on roads that are patrolled in this division.

Dority reminds those who may be calling those offices during a storm that there is only one department employee on duty outside normal working hours and he or she may be busy calling plowing or sanding crews or be tied up with radio traffic. "We hope callers getting a busy signal or not getting an immediate answer will be patient and try again," Mr. Dority said.

BETHEL'S LOSS, WEST BETHEL'S GAIN—Joe Gaidis (at back, center), owner of Martha's Restaurant, in Bethel, auctioned off the contents of his restaurant last Saturday. Much of the equipment was purchased by Warren and Jane Corliss, owners of the Mtn. View Country Store, in West Bethel. The Corlisses hope to begin serving breakfast and lunch at their store. Mr. Gaidis is considering alternative uses for the former Martha's Restaurant.

He noted that local motorists wishing to take advantage of MDOT's road condition reporting service could do so according to the following schedule:

Division VII, the Dixfield Division Office, is on Rte. 2, telephone 562-4228 and 562-4229. The office is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Late statewide reports are available after 6 a.m., 10 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. every day of the week. Reports are available at any time, day or night, on roads that are patrolled in this division.

Andover

By HELEN SALWAY

The Andover Youth Group held a Halloween Dance on Oct. 28 for Grades 4-7 at the elementary gym. Prizes were awarded for funniest, Kristy Fingree; scariest, Brian Spaulding; and original, Ian Richardson and Megan Meisner. Door prizes were drawn for a one liter soda. They were Ian Richardson, Megan Meisner and Dan Emerson. A pizza from Dave's store went to Megan Meisner.

At the headquarters, in Augusta, reports are also available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The number is 285-3427.

Games were played throughout the evening and grab bags were given out. Everyone had a lot of fun, including the chaparrans.

Mert and Edda Perkins attended some local craft fair and Mert won a huge Halloween cake, which he donated to the Sunday School's party.

Don't forget the Ladies Aide Christmas Sale is Nov. 18. I am busy making santas and ornaments for the sale.

Cozy Inn is also having their Christmas Sale on the same day, Nov. 18. I am providing homemade items for that sale, also, which benefits the activity fund for the residents. One of those residents is Dot Elliot from here. She is looking good whenever I go into see her.

BERTHA M. WITHAM

Bertha M. Witham, 82, formerly of West Paris, died Thursday, Nov. 2, 1989, at the Hawthorne House, Freeport, following a long illness.

Born at Oxford, June 2, 1907, she was the daughter of Amos M. and Anna M. Brooks Barnett. She was a Paris High School graduate. She was employed by Dr. James Littlefield of South Paris and Dr. James Cornett of Washington, D.C. She married Arthur E. Witham, June 24, 1924, in Rockville, Md. Mr. Witham died March 15, 1983.

Mrs. Witham was a member of the Deering Memorial Methodist Church, South Paris, and the North Deering Congregational Church, Portland. She was a Golden Sheaf member of the West Paris Grange #284, a member of the Oxford Pomona Grange #2, and the Maine State Grange. She was a former member of the Governor's Highway Safety Council and the Oxford County Civil Defense Corps.

Survivors include her stepmother, Evelyn Barnett of South Paris; a daughter, Bertha H. Benoit of West Paris; one grandson, two step-grandchildren, one great-granddaughter, and four stepgreat-grandchildren.

RUTH E. COLLINS

Mrs. Ruth E. Collins, 78, of 88 Pine St., Danville, N.H., died Monday, Oct. 30, 1989, at the Hale Hospital, Haverhill, Mass., after a brief illness.

She was born in Fitchburg, Mass., and had been a resident of Danville for less than a year, formerly living in Bethel for 32 years. She is the widow of Blinn Collins, who died in 1958.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert (Beverly) Cooney, Danville, Ms. Carol Collins, Danville, and Mrs. Richard (Eunice) Healey, Hiram; 10 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren, one great-great-grandson; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Giguere, Hill, N.H., and Mrs. Doris Lake, Chichester, N.H.; one brother, Edwin Mason, Chichester; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the Peabody Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Sandown. Burial was in the Pine Ridge Cemetery, East Hampstead, N.H.

The Maine Humanities Council is one of only six state humanities councils in the nation in 1989 to have received a merit award of $50,000 from the National Endowment for the Humanities in recognition of the excellence of its programs.

In the Bethel area, Maine Humanities Council projects have included several film and discussion series. A reading and discussion program on the early exploration and settlement of Maine, "The Land of Norumbega," was offered last spring. Programs funded by the council in other areas of the state include: "Working Women's Perspective on Social Programs" (an oral history project), "Maine Speaks" (an anthology of Maine literature for school children and adults) and "Maine at Statehood, The Forgotten years 1783-1820" (a statewide series of programs).

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of the Bethel Outing Club, I would like to express appreciation to the many volunteers who contributed to the success of the 9th annual ski sale.

Although gross sales were down slightly, due to economic conditions, the profits are expected to reach $6,000 when all the bills are paid—certainly a success by any measure. All profits will be turned back into the community over the next year for youth development ski programs, activities and outings. Thank you all for a job well done.

IT'S TOUGH

Diamond

POINT FOR POINT

DIAMOND SNOWPLOWS ARE BETTER

① Only Diamond Snowplows are equipped with dual pivot pins and a diagonal bracing system that distributes plowing loads better and reduces stress on the pushframe and cylinders.

② Diamond's trip-edge gives way when objects are struck at ground level. Diamond's rigid moldboard system keeps the blade upright and plowing until your truck loses traction.

HERE'S HOW THE TRIP-EDGE WORKS

③ Diamond Snowplows are equipped with heavy duty torsion springs.

④ Diamond's skid shoes are engineered to load up into the trip edge angle while plowing.

Inquire about Diamond's "retractable" snow deflector and many more unique features of the Diamond Snowplow System.
